5th Sunday of Lent

Today's gospel contrasts the legalism and mercilessness of the scribes and Pharisees with the mercy and delicacy of Jesus towards the sinful woman. Jesus does not enter into their game of shaming and condemning her. He remains bent down, writing in the sand, and does not even look up at her until her accusers have departed, themselves shamed. Today's society continually demands harsher punishments. Does this reflect Jesus' attitudes?

Next Week: Father, forgive them Isaiah 50:4-7; Psalm 21 Philippians 2:6-11; Luke 22:14-23:56

PROJECT COMPASSION:

This week we meet Y Re from the Central Highlands of Vietnam. Like many minority ethnic women she received a low level of education. She left school at ten years old to help her family grow enough food.

Y Re is participating in a special credit program supported by Caritas to provide loans and offer workshops to help women arrange their finances. Your donation will allow communities to become self-reliant and look forward to a more productive future. Sincere thanks for your generosity.

A VOCATION VIEW: Lent is six weeks of being serious about forgiveness and knowing we are loved. Who will step forward to tell of God's great love for us?

Reflection

by Dianne Bergant CSA

Lent ends on a note of wonder. In the face of all the mighty works that God has already performed for the people, God promises something even more magnificent.

Throughout this season we have reflected on the marvels that God accomplished in the lives of the people, cutting a covenant with Abraham, leading the people out of bondage, revealing God's own personal name, bringing them into a land that is bursting with life. Now God says: You haven't seen anything yet. The first reading proclaims that something new is about to appear. In the gospel, this new thing unfolds before our eyes. Here we see Jesus neither rejecting the law nor changing it. Instead, he shows that the law, as good as it might be, serves something higher. He shows that the mercy and compassion of God exceed the authority of the law. Once again we see that the readings of Lent are less concerned with mortification and penance than they are with divine graciousness and our response of joy and thanksgiving.

Paul is not satisfied with the blessings of the past. In fact, he considers them rubbish when compared with knowing and being united with Christ. Life with Christ transforms us from people who are caught in sin, to women and men who have been forgiven. Life in Christ is the new thing that God has fashioned for us. God is the one who creates something new; we are the ones who are re-created.
